

A transportation contains one and only one packet. This is aimed to provide delivery information per packet instead of per truck as the per packet information is more relevant to the end user.

Price can only be calculated once the products will be added to the diagram as they will be contained in the packages

